AMHOP VOTING MEMBERSHIP CATEGORIES CHART:

Builders – Builders include individual masons or those who build or install masonry heaters and ovens but are not specifically dealers of a particular product line or serving as a recognized distributor. Example: A builder may install a particular brand fireplace but has no authority by that company or one of its distributors to buy its products at a wholesale price and sell them at a markup. Likewise, a builder may use any number of kits but does not have exclusive agreements to sell one kit or serve a particular region.

Retailers – Retailers include those who are sales representatives, dealers or distributors of a particular brand (or brands) of ovens or heaters. Most retailers have a store, showroom, or internet website devoted to a specific make or brand (or brands) of product. Retailers generally have agreements with a parent company to sell a particular product or range of products, often in a specific region or territory and at a specific markup.

Manufacturers – Manufacturers are those who are the principals creating, making, and wholesaling a particular product name brand for wider distribution. Manufacturers produce a product for sale and may or may not sell them directly. Often, manufacturers have dealer or distributor outlets authorized to sell their products but some manufacturers sell their product directly. Example manufacturers in our industry include Tulikivi Corporation and Le Panyol (Fayol Corporation).
